Don't stay silent about Hate Crime

“I would like to assure anyone affected by hate crime that they live in a society in which law enforcement agencies will ensure any report is treated with the utmost seriousness”

The Lord Advocate, James Wolffe QC

WHAT IS HATE CRIME

The Scottish Government defines Hate Crime as crime committed against a person or property that is motivated by ‘malice or ill-will towards an identifiable social group’. It is likely that you have been a victim of a hate crime if you believe that you have been targeted because of your:

- race
- religion
- sexual orientation
- transgender identity
- disability

If you believe that you have been targeted because of any of the above, please tell the Police about it. They take hate crime very seriously. If you tell them that you think an incident is motivated by prejudice, the Police must record and investigate this.

Hate Crime can take a number of forms, including, but not limited to:

- physical assault
- criminal damage to property eg. graffiti, arson, vandalism
- intimidating or threatening behaviour including obscene calls or gestures
- on line abuse such as Facebook and Twitter posts
- written materials such as letters, leaflets, posters
- verbal abuse or insults including name-calling
- emotional and psychological abuse
- bullying
- murder

What to do if you experience or witness a Hate Crime or Hate Incident

If you experience or witness a Hate Incident, whether it's a crime or not and no matter how trivial or unimportant you may think it is, your complaint will be recorded and taken seriously when you choose to report it to the Police. You can make a report:

- through a Third Party Reporting Centre
- by calling 101
- through the On-Line Reporting form on the Police Scotland website. This can be completed anonymously so you don't need to give your name if you don't want to.

REMEMBER – ALWAYS CALL THE POLICE ON 999
IF YOU NEED IMMEDIATE HELP.

Why report a Hate Crime ?

There are a number of reasons why reporting Hate Crime is important.

- If you are a victim you can receive support and advice to make you safer
- It could stop the perpetrator from offending again
- All reports help build a picture of Hate Crime in your community and in Glasgow. They tell us if there's a problem in a particular neighbourhood or if a community is being targeted. Then we can tackle the problem.
- It may prevent a minor situation developing into a more serious one
- You will help to raise awareness of the issue and lead to a change in attitudes
- Your information may lead to an arrest and conviction
- You will help law enforcement services prevent hate incidents in the future

What is Third Party Reporting?

Many people, for various reasons, are reluctant to report crime directly to the Police. Victims and witnesses of hate crimes can report, without contacting the Police directly, through a Third party Reporting Centre. The Third Party Reporting Centre is a safe and supportive space to discuss your complaint. If you want to report it to the Police they can do this on your behalf. The Police act on this as if they had received the report directly from you.

You can ask the Third Party Reporting Centre to give as much or as little personal information to the Police as you want- you don't have to give your name if you don't want to. These centres have received appropriate training and can provide you with additional support or advice.

You can find a list of some of the Glasgow Third Party Reporting Centres at the end of this leaflet. For a full list please visit our website www.hatecrimescotland.org or www.scotland.police.uk

How do I report to the Police online?

On-line Reporting lets you make a direct and confidential report to Police Scotland through its website. The report can be anonymous although this may limit the action that the Police can take. To report on-line visit www.scotland.police.uk and click on Report Hate Crime.

What Happens After You Report

The Police will record the incident and investigate the circumstances to determine whether or not a crime has occurred

If this is the case, they will investigate the circumstances further and gather evidence

If there is sufficient evidence, the perpetrator will very likely be arrested and a report will be submitted to the Procurator Fiscal

The Procurator Fiscal (PF or Fiscal) works for the Crown Office and Procurator Fiscal Service (COPFS), which is the body responsible for prosecuting crime in Scotland

The Procurator Fiscal (PF) considers the Police report and decides if there is sufficient evidence to proceed. If there is, the Procurator Fiscal will then decide what, if any, action it is appropriate to take

Actions range from prosecution in court, direct measures such as warnings, fiscal fines, compensation offers and social work diversion

The Procurator Fiscal can also decide to take no action. When this happens, the victim can ask for an explanation of the decision

If court proceedings are appropriate, the PF will decide which court these should be taken in. This decision will depend on:

- the nature of the offence
- the sentencing powers of the respective courts
- whether the accused has a criminal record
